

2010 Boyd County Fair Youth Livestock Show Rules

General Rules for All Species

- No adhesives, paints, or other artificial enhancements are allowed to be used. If they are found to be used, the participant and the animal will be disqualified from the show.
- All state health regulations must be complied with and will be strictly enforced, including a current (within 120 days of the opening day of the fair) health certificate from a veterinarian.
- If the exhibitor intends to show in other shows, such as the regional KDA shows, they must have KUIP ID; (for beef, swine, goats and sheep). The KUIP registration dates and locations for Spring 2009 will be announced by the KDA in late winter/early spring. Call for these dates if interested.
- The auction of all animals shown in a market class is mandatory (feeder calves and stockers may be sold, or they may not be put in the auction if the exhibitor intends to bring them back next year as a market steer or replacement heifer). Animals shown in breeding classes will no longer be eligible for the Boyd County Fair Livestock Auction, with the following exception for this year only: a breeding animal that is currently owned by the exhibitor, and was intended to be put in the auction, and is visually verified as being owned by, and in the possession of, the exhibitor by a member of the livestock committee no later than February 28, 2010. The exhibitor must write a minimum of five (5) letters to NEW potential buyers who have never purchased an animal at the Boyd County Fair Sale of Champions. This letter is to request the individuals or businesses to attend the auction and bid on the animal. The Extension Office and/or Livestock Committee will contact each previous buyer. Each exhibitor may only sell one animal from each market show, i.e. one market lamb, one market hog, one feeder calf, one market steer, etc. Animals will be sold per pound, based on drop-off weight.
- All animals must be fed and watered at least once daily and the bedding is to be changed a minimum of daily at least ½ hour (4:30 PM during the week) before the fair opens for the day. The first day these tasks are not done, a livestock committee member will do the tasks and a $25 fee will be assessed to the exhibitor. The second day these tasks are not done, the exhibitor will be required to remove the animal from the fairgrounds immediately upon arrival. These tasks are to be done by the exhibitors with assistance from friends or relatives if necessary. The species superintendent will have a check sheet for each exhibitor to sign in daily.
- Official Boyd County Youth Livestock Record Books are mandatory for each animal to be shown at the fair and must be presented to a livestock show official before the animals will be allowed to unload. Record books may be picked up on the registration dates or earlier at the Extension Office, as soon as they are available.
- A 22" x 28" poster, to be on display at the animal's pen or stall during the entire fair, is also required. This poster should contain age appropriate information about the animal and/ or exhibitor, pictures, ration information, breed information, etc. The poster should include the participant's name, age, and whether they are competing as a clover bud, junior, or senior. The poster is a requirement for each livestock entry, including poultry and rabbits.
- Any animal deemed dangerous or uncontrollable by the Livestock Show Officials at drop off will not be allowed to stay at the fair and must be removed immediately.
- Any animal deemed uncontrollable or dangerous by the judge preceding or during the show will be disqualified.
- All cattle, sheep, goats, and swine that are to be shown at the Boyd County Fair must be owned and in possession by no later than 12:00 noon May 2, 2010. They must be brought to the Boyd County Fairgrounds on May 1 between 5:00 – 7:00 PM or on May 2 between 10:00 AM and 12:00 noon for registration, weighing, and tagging. Any animal not meeting this requirement will not be eligible to be shown or exhibited at the 2010 Boyd County Fair. The youth who will be showing the animal must be present at this registration with the animal.

- All participants must be Boyd County 4-H or FFA members who live or go to school in Boyd County or a member of the Boyd County 4-H Livestock Club if their home county does not have a certified youth livestock program. All participants must be 18 years or younger or meet current 4-H or FFA participation requirements.
- It is the responsibility of the exhibitor to remove his or her animal from the fairgrounds at the appointed time and to deliver any animal sold at the auction to the location chosen by the buyer. Animals are NOT to be removed until approved to be checked out by Livestock Show Officials.
- Classes will be set as determined by the Livestock Show Officials.
- All exhibitors are required to attend 6 hours of livestock training taught by certified livestock volunteers prior to weigh in on May 1st-2nd, in order to be eligible to register their animal in the fair. The 6-hour rule MAY be waived for new exhibitors. An orientation for new exhibitors will be held immediately following the weigh-in on May 2, 2010 in order to satisfy this requirement. Additional orientations will be offered during May. FFA members who have successfully completed an animal science course by a certified agriculture instructor may waive the 6-hour rule. NOTE: the waiver may cause a participant to be ineligible if they wish to register their animals for KUIP (Kentucky Uniform Identification Program) to show at regional livestock shows, or the Kentucky State Fair Livestock Show, if they qualify.
- All rules and regulations will be enforced by the Livestock Show Officials and their decisions are final.

If an exhibitor asks a buyer for their animal to be returned to them, or if they ask for a buyer to give them an animal without purchasing it through the auction, or resale, they will automatically forfeit the sale of their animal and the purchase price will be returned to the buyer. If the buyer, of their own accord, offers the animals back to the exhibitor, that is permissible and no action will be taken.
